Druski Sings His Way Through His First Night Hosting 'SNL'

From: Billboard Mined: 2026-11-09 5 min read

Comedian Druski hosted Saturday Night Live for the first time on Saturday night, and he hit all the right notes, literally. The show's musical guest was The Strokes, but it was Druski crooning 'she said yes' at just the right comedic moment that became the real earworm of the night.

Two of the funniest sketches showed off his knack for musical comedy, and some real vocal talent. In 'Proposal,' cast member Jeremy Culhane plays a man asking his girlfriend, played by Sarah Sherman, to marry him. Things do not quite go as planned. But since he assumed she would say yes, he went all-out to make the proposal an unforgettable moment, including hiring entertainment.

'I don't really know how to tell you this, but the next four minutes are about to be really tough,' Culhane says when Sherman turns him down.

And then the show goes on anyway. All eyes, and ears, turn to Druski and an ensemble that keeps growing around him as he belts with soul: 'She said yes, oh, she said yes / Can't wait to see her wearing that dress / Got down on one knee and she said yes.'

The second standout sketch, 'Golden Age of Hip-Hop,' had the Druski-led crew performing songs with titles like 'Gangs Ain't Good (Free Yo Mind)' and 'You Can Be My Brother, Friend.'

When Druski was announced as a host for the show's 52nd season, he got plenty of support from his hip-hop friends. Among those sending congratulatory comments were Drake, Travis Scott, Quavo and Wheezy.

For a first-time host, Druski showed he could do more than tell jokes. He could carry a tune, lead a growing choir of singers, and turn an awkward moment into the funniest song of the night.

Word Treasure

belts -- Sings loudly and with a lot of energy.
sketches -- Short funny scenes performed by actors in a comedy show.
ensemble -- A group of performers who work together in a show.
crooning -- Singing in a soft, smooth and gentle voice.
earworm -- A catchy tune that sticks in your head after you hear it.

Background you need

Saturday Night Live, or SNL, is a famous American comedy show that has run for many years, with a different guest host each week.

A sketch is a short funny scene performed by actors, and SNL is made up of many sketches in one show.

The host is the guest star who introduces the show and appears in the sketches.

An earworm is a catchy tune that sticks in your head after you hear it.

Break it down

LEAD: Comedian Druski hosted Saturday Night Live for the first time and stole the show by singing.

KEY EVENT: His song 'she said yes' in the 'Proposal' sketch became the real earworm of the night.

+- WHO: Druski, cast members Jeremy Culhane and Sarah Sherman, and musical guest The Strokes.

+- WHEN: Saturday night, in the show's 52nd season.

EVIDENCE: A second standout sketch, 'Golden Age of Hip-Hop,' had the Druski-led crew performing funny songs.

OPEN QUESTION: What will Druski do next, now that his first hosting showed he can sing as well as tell jokes?

Why it matters

Live comedy shows let performers try new things in front of an audience, and this story shows how music and jokes together can turn an awkward moment into the funniest part of the night.

Test what you remember

1. What was Druski doing for the first time?

(A) Singing on TV
(B) Acting in a movie
(C) Telling jokes
(D) Hosting Saturday Night Live

2. Who was the musical guest that night?

(A) The Strokes
(B) Drake
(C) Lil Baby
(D) Quavo

3. In 'Proposal,' who plays the man asking his girlfriend to marry him?

(A) Jeremy Culhane
(B) Druski
(C) Ben Stiller
(D) Travis Scott

4. What does Druski sing in the sketch?

(A) 'O Christmas Tree'
(B) 'Golden Age of Hip-Hop'
(C) 'Gangs Ain't Good'
(D) 'She said yes'

5. What was the second standout sketch called?

(A) 'The Strokes'
(B) 'She Said Yes'
(C) 'Golden Age of Hip-Hop'
(D) 'Proposal'

6. Which season of SNL is this?

(A) The 53rd season
(B) The 51st season
(C) The 50th season
(D) The 52nd season

Answer key (try the quiz first!): 1: D 2: A 3: A 4: D 5: C 6: D

Questions to think about

MY THOUGHTS (at least 20 words):