Have you ever tried to collect every single Pokémon card? It takes forever, right? Well, imagine collecting all the biggest trophies in tennis and doing it faster than almost anyone ever. That's exactly what Jannik Sinner just did!

On Sunday, this 24-year-old Italian tennis ace won the Italian Open in Rome, with his home crowd cheering like crazy. But this wasn't just any win. It meant Sinner had won all nine of the ATP Masters 1000 tournaments the most important events just below the four Grand Slams. Tennis fans call this the "career Golden Masters." Only one other man, the legendary Novak Djokovic, has ever done it. And Sinner did it way younger!

Sinner beat Norway's Casper Ruud 6-4, 6-4 in the final. He even bounced back after losing an early game, using clever drop shots and staying super steady. "I'm really, really happy it's been an incredible last two and a half months," Sinner said. He's been on fire, winning six Masters titles in a row this season.

Here's the wild part: Sinner only won his first Masters title in 2023. That means he collected all nine in just a few years! Djokovic was 31 when he completed his set. Sinner is already a four-time Grand Slam champion, and now he's chasing the French Open, which starts next Sunday. If he wins that, he'll join an ultra-exclusive club of players who've won all four Grand Slams. Talk about a speedy superstar!

Word Treasure

ATP Masters 1000 -- A series of nine very important men's tennis tournaments, just one step below the biggest Grand Slam events.

Grand Slams -- The four most prestigious tennis tournaments in the world: the Australian Open, French Open, Wimbledon, and US Open.

drop shots -- A clever tennis move where the ball is hit lightly so it barely goes over the net and drops quickly.

career Golden Masters -- A rare achievement when a player wins all nine ATP Masters 1000 tournaments during their career.

French Open -- A major tennis tournament played on clay courts in Paris, also called Roland Garros.

ultra-exclusive club -- A very small, special group of players who have won all four Grand Slams in their career.

Background you need

Jannik Sinner is a 24-year-old Italian tennis star known for his calm attitude and powerful shots.

Novak Djokovic, a legendary Serbian player, held the record for the most Masters titles and won his Golden Masters at age 31.

The ATP Masters 1000 events are held in cities like Indian Wells, Miami, Monte Carlo, Madrid, Rome, Canada, Cincinnati, Shanghai, and Paris.

Break it down

WHO: Jannik Sinner, an Italian tennis champion, and runner-up Casper Ruud from Norway.

WHAT: Sinner won the Italian Open, completing the career Golden Masters--winning all nine ATP Masters 1000 titles.

WHERE: The tournament took place in Rome, Italy, with a cheering home crowd.

WHY: He achieved this faster than the only other man to do it, Novak Djokovic, and is now chasing the French Open to join the ultra-exclusive club of all-four-Grand-Slam winners.

Why it matters

It shows that with focus and steady improvement, you can speed past old records--just like practicing piano or math can lead to a big achievement sooner than you think.

Questions to think about

1. Fan's excitement: Many tennis lovers are amazed that Sinner collected all nine titles so quickly, calling him a future legend.
2. Skeptical view: Some say the competition is weaker now than in Djokovic's time, so the record might not be as impressive.
3. Historical comparison: Comparing Sinner's young age to Djokovic's 31 shows how today's players peak earlier, possibly due to better training and technology.
