Ella Langley Shares a Thoughtful New Song for the Next 'Hunger Games' Film

From: Rolling Stone Music Mined: 2026-11-13 5 min read

Some songs sound like a quiet evening after a long day. Ella Langley's new song, "Here Then We're Gone," is one of them. The country singer shared the gentle, acoustic track on Friday, November 13, for the soundtrack of the upcoming film The Hunger Games: Sunrise on the Reaping.

Langley wrote the song with Aaron Raitiere and Ernest, and Dave Cobb produced it. Its lyrics look back at someone who is gone and wonder about time moving on. "Things, they don't always work out the way that I'd like," Langley sings. "Like how I wish he was still here to hold me tonight." Later she adds, "But I'm movin' on, I'm climbin' that hill. Can't slow down time, but could I make time stand still?"

The soundtrack arrived the same day, with 29 tracks in all. It also includes Noah Kahan's song "Draw You Out," plus music from Noah Cyrus, Bella Kay, Stevie Nicks, Smashing Pumpkins, Violet Grohl, Gigi Perez, and more.

The film opens in theaters on November 20. It is a prequel to the original Hunger Games trilogy and follows a young Haymitch Abernathy, played by Joseph Zada, as he takes part in the 50th Hunger Games. The cast also includes Mckenna Grace, Whitney Peak, Ralph Fiennes, Jesse Plemons, Elle Fanning, Kieran Culkin, Kelvin Harrison Jr., Maya Hawke, and Lili Taylor. Francis Lawrence directed the film. He has directed the past four Hunger Games films.

The song caps a busy year for Langley. She released her second album, Dandelion, in April and toured across North America in support of it. Next, she will perform at the 2026 CMA Awards on November 18, where she leads all nominees with nine nominations, including Entertainer of the Year.

Word Treasure

acoustic -- Music made with instruments that are not plugged in or electronic, like a guitar played by itself.

soundtrack -- All the songs and music made for a movie, collected together in one album.

prequel -- A movie that tells a story that happened before an earlier movie.

trilogy -- A set of three books or movies that tell one connected story.

nominations -- The names chosen as possible winners for an award.

Background you need

A movie soundtrack is a collection of songs created to go with a film, helping to set its mood and tell its story.

The Hunger Games is a film series about a competition in a fictional world, and Sunrise on the Reaping is a prequel, which means its story takes place before the events of the original films.

This new film follows a young Haymitch Abernathy as he takes part in the 50th Hunger Games, so its songs look back at loss and the passing of time.

Ella Langley's gentle, acoustic song was written for that soundtrack, giving the film a quiet, thoughtful moment.

Break it down

LEAD: Ella Langley shared a gentle, acoustic song, "Here Then We're Gone," on Friday, November 13, for the soundtrack of The Hunger Games: Sunrise on the Reaping.

KEY EVENT: The soundtrack arrived the same day with 29 tracks, and the film opens in theaters on November 20.

+- WHO: Langley wrote the song with Aaron Raitiere and Ernest, and Dave Cobb produced it.

+- WHAT THE SONG SAYS: Its lyrics look back at someone who is gone and wonder about time moving on.

+- WHEN: The song was shared on Friday, November 13; the film opens November 20.

EVIDENCE: The soundtrack also includes Noah Kahan's "Draw You Out," plus music from Noah Cyrus, Bella Kay, Stevie Nicks, Smashing Pumpkins, Violet Grohl, Gigi Perez, and more.

CONTEXT: The film is a prequel to the original Hunger Games trilogy and follows a young Haymitch Abernathy, played by Joseph Zada, as he takes part in the 50th Hunger Games.

CLOSER: The song caps a busy year for Langley: she released her second album, Dandelion, in April, toured across North America, and will perform at the 2026 CMA Awards on November 18, leading all nominees with nine nominations, including Entertainer of the Year.

Why it matters

Music shapes how audiences feel about a story before they even see it, and a film soundtrack brings many different artists together around one story. Langley's song also shows how one release can cap a big year for an artist, from a new album and a tour to leading the CMA Award nominations.

Test what you remember

1. What is the title of Ella Langley's new song for the film?
   - (A) Draw You Out
   - (B) Here Then We're Gone
   - (C) Dandelion
   - (D) Sunrise on the Reaping
2. Who co-wrote the song with Langley?
   - (A) Stevie Nicks and Gigi Perez
   - (B) Aaron Raitiere and Ernest
   - (C) Noah Kahan and Dave Cobb
   - (D) Francis Lawrence and Joseph Zada
3. How many tracks does the soundtrack have in all?
   - (A) 29 tracks
   - (B) 13 tracks
   - (C) 50 tracks
   - (D) 20 tracks
4. When does the film open in theaters?
   - (A) November 20
   - (B) November 13
   - (C) April
   - (D) November 18
5. Who directed the film?
   - (A) Ralph Fiennes
   - (B) Jesse Plemons
   - (C) Joseph Zada
   - (D) Francis Lawrence
6. How many nominations does Langley lead with at the 2026 CMA Awards?
   - (A) Four
   - (B) Nine
   - (C) Twenty-nine
   - (D) Fifty

Answer key (try the quiz first!): 1: B 2: B 3: A 4: A 5: D 6: B

Questions to think about

MY THOUGHTS (at least 20 words):